Wood's HAIR DYE .- This admirable article is rapidly improving the hair. No article of a similar kind, now before the public, enjoys a better reputation as a restorative and invigorating hair tonic. Its peculiar chemical qualities have a beneficial effect upon the growth and character of the bair, giving a silky and glosty texture to that which was formerly of dry nature. It has also, we underand appearance of the hair, and destroying or counteracting the effects of age. With anch recommendations in its favor, we hardly per-ceive how any lady or gentleman should be without so valuable an adjunct to their toilet The article may be bad of the druggists

'The a dream or so of yearenge,
Somewhere in the west countree,
That a nice girl lived, as the 11 coriers know,
By the name of Deborah Loo;
Her sister was lived by Edgar Pec,
But Deborah by me.

Now I was green and she was green. As a summer squash might be; But we loved as warmly as others loved, I and my Reborah Lose; with a love that the lasses of Housierdom Coveted her and me.

lut somehow it happened long ago, lu the aguish west countree, In the aguish west countries, that a child March morning gave the "shakes" To my beautiful Deborah Lee; that the grim Seam Doctor (curse him' came And bore her away from me; the Doctor and Death—old partners they—in the aguish west countries.

The angels wanted her up in Peaven.
(But they never asked for me,
And that is the reason, I rather guess,
In the agulsh west countries.
That the cold blanch wind and the Doctor and Death
Took off my Indicated blanch. Took off my Peborah Lee-My beautiful Deborah Lee, Trom the warm snushine and opening flowers, And hid her away from me.

Our love was strong as a six horse team,
Or the love of the folks older than wo,
And possibly wher than we;
But loath, with the alf of the Doctor and Steam,
Was rather too many for me—
So be closed the pesper and stopped the breath
Of my ewestheart, Deborah Lac;
And her form the cold in the prairie mold—
Silent and cold—ah, me!

The feet of the hunter shall press her grave, And the prairie's sweet wild flowers. In their odorous beauty around it wave, Through all the summer hours, The still, bright summer hours; And the hirds shall sing in the triftel grass, And the meetar laden lac. With his dreamy hum on his gause-wings pass, She wakes no more to me, My own, my Deborah Lee! Ah never more to me!

Ah, never more to me! Ah, never more to me! Shough the wild hirds sing and the wild flowers s) She wakes no more to me. Yet oft in the husb of the still dlm night, A vision of beauty I see, bliding soft to my bedside, a phantom of light, Dear, beantilal beberah Lee, of the community Bebrush Lee, Advishle lieborsh Lee; hat the anxies should want her up in Heaven, Before they wanted Mr. CLOTHIERS.
